Recognition will be given to cadets of the ROTC Battalion for outstanding performance in military academics and leadership laboratory.

Among the awards will be the President's Medal, the Superior Cadet Awards, the Association of the U.S. Army Award, the ROTC Academic Awards, the Reserve Officers Association Awards, the American Legion Medal, the SUNPAPERS Medal, the Alumni Association Trophy and the Best Platoon Award.

Special guests on the reviewing stand who will assist Father Beatty in presenting the awards include: Maj. Gen. Rinaldo Van Brunt, President, Baltimore Chapter Association of the United States Army and Director of Baltimore Civil Defense; Commander Charles R. Rouse, USN (ret.), Reserve Officers Association; Mr. Thomas M. McCall, Department Commander, American Legion, Baltimore; Mr. Gilbert F. Stricker, President of the Loyola College Alumni Association; and Mr. Raymond W. Magill, Commander, Parkville Post No. 183, American Legion.

Music will be furnished by the 327th Army Band from Edgewood Arsenal.

The public is invited to attend.

Library Of Congress Closing Next Month

The Library of Congress regrets that it must close its main reading room beginning May 4 because of an extensive renovation program that must be carried out during the summer and fall months.

The Library's administration strongly urges you to use your college library to the fullest extent during this period and to resort to the Library of Congress only when absolutely necessary.

Students and faculty had better plan to go there soon to get any last minute work done on their term papers.

Loyola's IRC Presenting Notable Brazilian Author

The International Relations Club of Loyola College presents a lecture by Dr. Vladimir Reisky de Dubnic at 7:30 p.m. on April 29 in the student lounge of the Andrew White Student Union Building.

The subject of the lecture is "The Process of Change in Latin America", and a question and answer period will follow the lecture.

Dr. Vladimir Reisky de Dubnic recently returned from a three and a half year stay in Brazil where he completed a book on Brazilian politics under the sponsorship of the Organization of American States and the Social Science Research Council. His book, "Brazil at the Crossroads: Government, Parties and Politics" is to be published this year by Frederick Praeger, New York.

Taught at C.U.

Dr. Reisky de Dubnic was founder and Director of the Center for Social Studies in Rio de Janeiro and visiting Professor of Political Science at the Catholic University of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. He received his doctorate from the University of Chicago, taught at Harvard University and

Debating Society To Award Medal

Four Loyola debaters will compete for the Jenkins Medal on Thursday, April 30 at 7 p.m. in the Student Lounge.

The award is presented annually by the Bellarmine Debating Society to one of its varsity debaters. This year the debaters will discuss the national topic, "Resolved: that the Federal Government should guarantee an opportunity for higher education to every qualified high school graduate.

This topic has been the subject of the debates in which the Loyolans have participated throughout the past year.

Four Loyola debaters are featured in the contest, juniors Bill Scholtes and Denny Keating and freshmen Dan Kelleher and Dick Fleming. Dick recently received the Herbert R. O'Connor trophy annually awarded to the outstanding Loyola debater.

The debate will be judged by a panel including the moderator of the Bellarmine Debating Society, Judge James Perrott and Loyola faculty members, Father Bourbon and Father Connor, the assistant moderator.

Keating, Scholtes Make Final Bid For Presidency

Today marks the election of a new Student Body President.

Today Denny Keating will learn whether "It Does Make a Difference" to the student body.

Today Bill Scholtes will learn whether the student body wants a leader who will be "Progressive In Thought-Positive In Action."

Today will bring the answers to several other questions also. Are issues an actual element in campus elections? Are Loyola students issue orientated or candidate orientated?

Are there more liberal or more conservative voters on campus? Are pre-election supporters true to their promises? Are political associates of a candidate beneficial or detrimental? Are pencils more effective than campaign buttons?

Making Friends

The race for President of The Student Body is a race between two candidates of commendable backgrounds and precarious futures. Juniors Bill Scholtes and Denny Keating have been officially campaigning for two weeks, but the candidates have been making new friends for a much longer period of time.

Pre-election speculation has not produced a winner, but certainly a handful of ballots could do so today.

Both candidates seem to have been exerting a special effort to gain the support of the freshman class. The response of this class as well as the proportion of votes received from the sophomore and junior classes will determine the outcome.

This year, unlike in the past, student response to the Evergreen political scene has been enthusiastic. A large turnout at the polls is thus anticipated.

Vacancies Open In Tournament

There are still vacancies in both division of the Lee Oratorical Tournament for those students who wish to enter.

The main purpose of this tournament is to provide all students, regardless of previous experience, an opportunity to speak in public.

In an effort to foster greater participation, the Tournament Committee says the rules of this year's tourney have been extended to give all students equal opportunity--both experienced speakers as well as those who have never been in an oratorical tournament.

Prizes

For this reason there will be two divisions this year instead of only one; the time limit has been changed from the original eight-to-ten minute speech to this year's four-to-eight minute limit, and there are eight awards to be presented instead of only one award.

The deadline for application is Monday, April 27. The tournament is sponsored by the Debating Society and Tau Kappa Alpha, the National Debating Honor Fraternity. Dennis Keating is president of both and Bill Scholtes a member of both.

The annual Junior Prom will be held on Friday, May 1, from 9 to 11 in the main ballroom of the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel, located at Charles and Chase Streets in downtown Baltimore.

Music appealing to all tastes and rhythm will be provided by Reds Popoli and his orchestra. Bill Hoffman, Chairman of the Favors Committee announces that the favors for this year's Prom will be unique and striking.

Immediately preceding the Prom, there will be two receptions. For those living on the north-end of town, the cocktail party will be held at Bok Kammer's house, 612 West Fortieth Street, Roland Park; while for those living in West Baltimore, Dave Schroeder will play host at his home at 109 Forest Drive, Catonsville.

Boat Ride

For the first time, the Junior Prom affair has been extended to include a boat ride. This was done to assimilate the traditional college weekend.

The boat ride will take place aboard the Port Welcome and will leave Pier 1, Pratt Street on Saturday May 2. Music for the moonlight cruise will be supplied by the Tilters, a local rock and roll band. The cruise will take place from 8:30 until 11:30.

The chaperones invited to the Prom include Dr. Charles Hands from the English Department, Mr. Hans Mair from Political Science, Mr. Xavier Spiegel from Physics, Dr. Jacob Fisher from Biology, Mr. Charles Jordan from the Modern Language Department, and Mr. John Sweitzer from Business Administration.

Tuxedos, Flowers

In addition, there have been attempts to put the price of tuxedos and flowers within the range of every junior. Hiken's Tuxedo House, located at 1646 East Baltimore Street has put the price of the tuxedos at $7.50, which includes everything except shoes and socks.

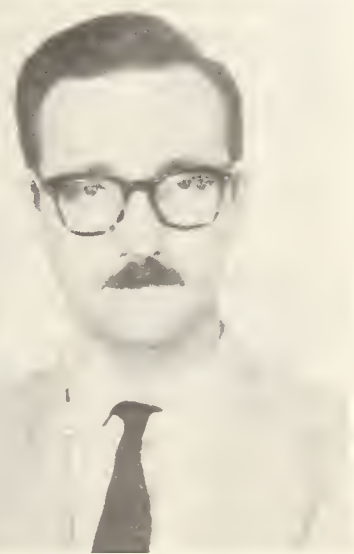

Corsages, a must for every prom, will be supplied by Seward Brothers, 3900 N. Charles Street. Four selections are offered for a price of $3.50. In addition, those juniors who wish to pay a little more may make special orders to Skip Seward.

This Prom Weekend should prove to be without precedent.

Dennis Keating, chairman of the Prom, initiated the idea of making it a weekend affair meeting with much enthusiasm.

Prom chairman Dennis Keating and committee heads sample reception sours.

Lancelotta's Law

"Robert's Rules of Order" calls the Minutes of a meeting: "the record of the proceedings of a deliberative assembly." According to the Minutes of the eleventh meeting of the Student Council on February 5, 1964, and we quote from them: "Mr. Lancelotta then appointed the new Elections committee. Messrs Kelly and Walsh will be the co-chairmen and Messrs Agnes and Pierpont are members."

No mention was made of approval from the Student Council of these members. No one either questioned or declared the unconstitutionality of these appointments. It is interesting to note that Kelly was sworn in as a member of the Stdu as a member of the Student Council by Fr. Smardon at the same meeting that he was made co-chairman of the Elections Committee. Some members already on the Council for some time have not been on a committee yet.

The Constitution of the Student Council recognizes the Elections Committee as a standing committee and is to be set up according to the following composition: "The Elections Committee must be made up of no less than three nor more than five of the council's members. Of these three to five members one must be from the sophomore class, one from the junior class and one from the senior class. The chairman and members of this committee are appointed by the president of the student council, and are subject to the approval of the council."

Did Lancelotta Check Constitution?

It seems to us that the President of the Student Council should have checked the Constitution before making his appointments. Lancelotta obviously did not; or if he did, he deliberately went against the Constitution's ruling about the members of the Elections Committee.

Three things were wrong with the Committee prior to Tuesday's emergency meeting of the Student Council: (1) there was no recorded approval by the student Council of the members of the Committee; (2) there was no sophomore and no junior on the Committee; and (3) there were four seniors as members when at most there should have been three.

Lancelotta states in his posted letter of April 17 to the Student Body that he had asked the Council if there were any objections to his appointments and he claims there were none. This seems to us to be one person's word against another relying on memory alone. The Minutes, we feel, should be the official pronouncement of what actually happened at the Student Council meeting. The ability to prove a point concerning something not in the Minutes would be quite difficult and the tendency for opinions to creep in are great.

Situations Now and Then

In this letter he also states that as the present situation exists now all the sophomores and the juniors are candidates in the forthcoming election. On February 5, however, he did not know who would be running for an office and had enough opportunity to set up the Committee as the Constitution states.

Even since the election petitions were handed in Lancelotta could have appointed a junior and sophomore in keeping with the spirit of the law. Both junior business representative Bob Kammer and sophomore business representative Bob Santoni are unopposed in the election. They could have been appointed in order to make the Elections Committee a legitimate one.

Lancelotta declares that there is an existing precedent to have all seniors on the Elections Committee. This is on what he based his original appointments. If precedent is allowed to rule above a constitution then what good is the constitution? The Constitution of the Student Council states one thing, precedent another, and the precedent is followed. The more proper thing to do is to change the Constitution according to the legal procedure set up by the organization. Just because precedent is followed does not mean it is right.

At the emergency meeting held Tuesday Phil Pierpont officially resigned from the Elections Committee to keep it legal. We congratulate him for sticking to his principles. It is too bad Lancelotta did not think about the consequences before taking matters into his own hands.

The Minute Man

By Gary Atkinson

The Student Council held a well attended meeting on Friday April 17.

The main interest of this meeting was not what actually took place, but what almost took place. Several members of the Council, after a careful reading of the Student Council Constitution, discovered that the Elections Committee as it stood on Friday was clearly unconstitutional.

Robert Santoni sought to bring this to the attention of the Council with a motion from the floor. The move to put the motion on the agenda was defeated after a questionable interpretation of the parliamentary rules by Council President Charles Lancelotta.

Francis Walsh and Philip Pierpont succeeded in slowing the usually rapid Council transaction of business.

At times the Council discussion grew quite heated as more and more rules were invoked by the Council President to aid the small group seeking to block the important order of business.

On Monday, however, an announcement was posted by Charles Lancelotta stating that there had been a change in the Election Committee's composition. Sophomore Bob Santoni and John Herrmann, a junior, have been added to the committee after the resignation of Philip Pierpont.

The reasons for appointing all seniors to the Committee, thus making it unconstitutional, was given as precedent. For the past few years it seems that every President has appointed Committees consisting entirely of seniors, in order to avoid favoritism in the elections.

But as long as the Constitution states that one member of the committee must be a junior, and one a sophomore, only an amendment can change this stipulation.

The Readers' Right

Dear Sir:

It was very enlightening to learn what our "sister college" has to say about us. The only problem is that the majority of the girls questioned were freshmen and, rather than actually meeting members of Loyola, have formed their opinions from hearsay.

The girls who spoke out against the "Animals" never dated an "Animal"! How are they justified in judging us?? As for maturity, it was not until our sophomore year that we started building the pyramids, mainly from a diversion from the monotony of Notre Dame social functions! It's quite possible that I have led a sheltered life before, but I never saw a pyramid built until last September or October when we built the first one.

An "Animal"

Dear Editor:

Early this semester there was a marked tendency in the GREYHOUND to be rather extravagant in the tone of its editorials. Over the past few issues, however, this tendency has been corrected. This letter comes from a pleased reader-pleased with the change.

I was especially pleased with your printing of an editorial from AMERICA which represents an excellent example of the mature and yet responsible college editorial.

The Watchdog?!

Campus elections today:

The dog shook paws with one of the candidates who had a hydramatic handshake: no clutch.

After viewing the multitude of multi-colored campaign posters, Fr. Smardon remarked, "It looks like they're electing officers for the Girl Scouts."

It has been rumored that the rate of exchange of Denny buttons and Willie pencils has reached a new low.

Dick Higdon is running for a seat on the Supreme Court: the President feels he is the most qualified candidate because he has been sitting on the bench for years.

Another rumor hints that Willie Hoffman, for the first time in his six year career at Loyola, has been campaigning under raps for a write in vote for President of the Student Body. The build of his external qualifications certainly makes him the biggest threat.

Jim Norton got a bee in his bonnet on the lacrosse field, and you know, it stung him.

Charlie Bowers is suffering from insomnia because he can't sleep in class any longer.

The Dog heard from high sources in the Pentagon, that Captain Mac Nider spent the weekend in Walter Reed Hospital recuperating from "M-1 thumb."

The sophomore "Animals" have been contracted by Ed Sullivan for three successive Sunday night performances featuring their famous "pyramid" balancing act. But they better be careful, because when they're all grouped together like that, they're a perfect target for a man with a big net.

Word has it that Steve Agnes is on the critical list at Slenderalla.

The Dog is trying to verify a report that the Dell Building will be turned into a Hilton Hotel after all the improvements are finished. But the coat racks will probably be returned to MH-405 after next Wednesday.

The Herbie Mann Jazz Sextet will present two concerts at Morgan State College on Saturday, May 2. Beginning at 7:30 and 10 p.m., the show will also feature comedian Jackie Vernon and master of ceremonies Mike James of radio station WFBR.

A consistent winner of the "Downbeat" readers poll, flutist Herbie Mann has been in the forefront of the move to include more ethnic musics in jazz. Believing that the folk rhythms of other countries can contribute to and expand the scope of jazz, he is at present attempting to incorporate Israeli, Eastern European, gypsy, and Turkish music into his repertoire.

Mann's greatest success, however, has resulted from his work with the Brazilian-styled bossa nova, or jazz samba, which he, along with Charlie Byrd and Stan Getz, was instrumental in introducing to this country.

Jackie Vernon's approach to humor differs radically from most of the current crop of "in" comedians. Rather than looking down on the social and political world with a hypercritical eye, Vernon achieves his end by presenting himself as the world's only two-legged shaggy-dog.

His deadpan confession of life as the shyest ("at parties, I stayed in the room with the coats"), dullest ("my idea of a wild time was Kool-ade and oatmeal cookies") human being on record is a refreshing change from the sophisticated whose apparent delight in fault-finding for its own sake has become a bit trite.

Loyola Students Attend Breakfast

The first State of Maryland and District of Columbia Student Leadership Breakfast is being held tomorrow, April 25, at Annapolis.

The Student Leadership Breakfast is a collegiate counterpart of the Presidential Prayer Breakfast inaugurated 12 years ago by the United States Senate and House of Representatives Christian Leadership Groups.

As a time for Christian fellowship and dedication of ourselves and our nation to God, these breakfasts bring to America an opportunity to discuss and discover collectively the foundation stones of our nation's life.

Governor Prayer Breakfasts are now being held in most of the 50 states for the Governors and State leaders, reaffirming our dedication of these United States to God. It is rapidly becoming an annual event for mayors and officials of cities throughout America.

This year Maryland held its fifth annual Governor Prayer Breakfast at Annapolis on February 26. The student leaders of Maryland and D.C., attended by invitation of Governor Tawes, continued on this page, col. 5

Keating Vs. Scholtes In Showdown Today

Dennis Keating

Dennis Keating, one of two candidates for the office of President of the Student Council, is a junior, majoring in political science.

Mr. Keating looks to a comprehensive background in Loyola activities. He is a past President of the International Relations Club, the Bellarmine Debating Society, and the Loyola YR's. He is presently head of the Academy of Student Orientation and the Loyola Chapter of Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha. In addition, he is a member of the GREYHOUND staff and Alpha Sigma Nu. Last year, he was a member of the tennis team.

Mr. Keating has served on the Student Council the past two years as a Representative-at-large and as a Social Science Representative for his class. He has been a member of the Executive Committee of the Student Council both years—first as Corresponding Secretary and then as Parliamentarian.

In regard to his own class activities, Mr. Keating has served as its freshman Secretary, sophomore Student Council Representative, and Junior Prom Chairman.

The basic theme of Mr. Keating's campaign is the need for real representation of student opinion. He feels that it is imperative that student opinion make its weight felt in regard to all important changes in Student life at Loyola.

As evidence of the conviction of his stated intentions and his ability to carry out his goals, he points to his past actions. He cites his connection with: Loyola's first Junior Prom Weekend, the Petition for Abolition of the Compulsory Mass, this past Freshman Orientation Program, and the Books for Africa campaign, among other projects.

Keating's Platform

Mr. Keating's platform consists of the following: revision of the Student Council Constitution (to simplify procedures and to allow students to speak freely before it), abolition of the compulsory First Friday Mass attendance, liberalization of courses, improved and expanded orientation program, a Loyola appearance on "College Bowl," and better cooperation with neighboring women's colleges.

Mr. Keating feels his past actions indicate his sincerity and ability to carry out a program designed to benefit the entire student body. He feels that improvement in student life can come only with the participation of all the students and under leadership aimed at representing student opinion.

In accordance with his position on student opinion and participation in activities, Mr. Keating hopes to influence the Administration to liberalize courses, to offer a greater variety of courses and electives and to encourage an exchange program on a wider scale between Loyola and Notre Dame.

With an insight into the problems facing Loyola based on his past association with many activities, including the Student Council, Dennis has stated: "Too often the campus issues take on the appearance of a war between the students and the administration; the real fault for this strife primarily lies with student leadership."

"Not until students holding office are willing to consult with whom they represent, nor before these office holders are willing to impress the Administration with the sincerity and constructiveness of several student proposals will Loyola bind unity."

Bill Scholtes

In his three years at Loyola, Bill Scholtes has compiled an enviable record of service to the Student Council, making him the senior member of that body. His election last year as president of the junior class made him the only person in recent school history ever to be president of his class two years in succession.

Interested in many activities, Bill has been a member of the Academy of Student Orientation, The Debating Society, the GREYHOUND staff, Tau Kappa Alpha and Alpha Sigma Nu honor fraternities, the Tutoring Society, and the Young Republicans. In addition he has written for the "Evergreen Quarterly."

When he became president of his class in the spring of 1962, Bill Scholtes was faced with a class treasury that was in the red. Due to careful planning, the Class of 1965 is now richer.

Last year, as a sophomore, Bill was elected president of the Inter-Collegiate Council of Maryland. As leader of this group, which represents over 5,000 Maryland college students, he conducted the College Bowl Tournament which saw Loyola College sweep four straight contests with area colleges.

The ICC is currently studying the problem of the Ocean City curfew law. It was through the initiative of the junior class president that this study was begun. In cooperation with Mayor Hugh Cropper of Ocean City and James Fanseen, a Baltimore lawyer, the ICC would act as a representative of the state's youth in any mediation.

Scholtes' Platform

Today Bill is a candidate for President of the Student Body. For the past two weeks the Campaign has brought out his position on a number of issues. He has waged a positive campaign, one that emphasizes his pro student positions.

If elected, he intends to work for the elimination of compulsory First Friday Mass. This task, he states, requires the laying of a proper groundwork and a well planned follow-through in negotiations with the college authorities.

In regard to the cafeteria situation, Bill has worked out a plan whereby the cafeteria can be clean during the student lunch hours. This plan involves the hiring of college students to do the job that was done last year. If this action is taken, the students will benefit by having a clean cafeteria as well as new job opportunities.

Bill intends to work for the return of examinations for inspection, a College Bowl team, a closer relationship with the areas women's colleges, and a relaxation of the rules to permit students to speak before the Council.

One of the most important planks on his platform is his pledge to make the Student Council for the students. This, he says, can be accomplished by holding committee hearings on important legislation and by holding general assemblies at which students can air their gripes and ideas to the Student Council.

A good record of participation, ideas, and, most importantly, attitude qualify Bill Scholtes for the office of President of the Student Body.

Prayer Breakfast

ernor Tawes.

The Breakfast tomorrow is part of a voluntary movement of concerned laymen and students who have informally joined together to reaffirm their faith and, through their encouragement and example, to promote a new faith, new spirit, and a new hope in the hearts of men throughout the world.

The Student Leadership Breakfast is being held in the Carvel Hall Hotel at 9 o'clock. The Chairman of the Student Leadership Committee is Jim Beattie, Student Body President at the University of Maryland.

Peter Mastrangelo, GREYHOUND Editor-in-Chief and Chuck Lancelotta, Student Body President are members of this Committee. Lancelotta is giving the Invocation and Mastrangelo the Remarks and Old Testament reading.

Governor Tawes is also attending as well as fifteen members from each invited college.

Under Exposure

The two candidates for the office of Student Body President, Denny Keating and Bill Scholtes debate in the Student Lounge before their prospective constituents. The candidates discussed, this past Wednesday, their reasons for seeking office, as well as stating their qualifications. Following a suggestion made in a GREYHOUND editorial both agreed to the arrangements made by the Elections Committee.

Distorted Tales In Flight

By Colin Delpi

Last week, we had the unfortunate experience of venturing into the wild blue yonder in a pre-war (War of 1812) aircraft piloted by none other than Captain Eddie Ricketyback. Eddie was a very impressive looking gent; he was gray, completely gray, except for his hair—it was black. The plane was an old ship, and we realize that we must make some allowances, but it should have had at least two wings. We became all the more pensive when we asked the stewardess for the whereabouts of the emergency light, and she replied that it was worn out.

We edged into our seats just as the pilot began to speak to us over the intercom. Well, it wasn't exactly an intercom, it was more like two beer cans on a string. And he said, "Good afternoon suckers, I mean passengers. This is the captain. We will be flying at an altitude of about fifty or sixty feet non-stop to the end of the runway, then we will transfer to a bus which will take us over the mountains."

The ground crew had a better idea. They jumped smiling Eddie, strangling him with his earphones and beating him severely about the head (it didn't hurt) and shoulders. They revved up the engines with a tremendous roar, taxied down the runway, and had to be towed back to the hanger for more gas.

After refueling, a few men decided that the only way to get us airborne was to push the ship over a cliff. But we finally got up and they began to show a movie, "The High and The Mighty," but actually, they were trying to keep our minds off of the fire, although someone spotted it and began to panic. Just then, a woman jumped up and said "We must all pray." "I don't know how," replied a frenzied voice from the back. "Well do something religious," barked the woman. So, he took up a collection.

VanDaniker And Murray Hurl Hounds To Victories

By Dan Whalen, Asst. Sports Editor

A week ago Wednesday, the Hound baseball team brought back from Washington a two game victory over American University.

Senior southpaw Van Daniker went the limit in the first 3-1 win. "Ralph" yielded only one unearned run on three hits as he struck out eight A.U. batters.

The Hounds gained their next two runs in the sixth inning. John Campbell drew a walk but was put out on a fielder's choice when Burchell grounded to the second baseman. Mike Elliott followed with a single to right moving Burchess to third. Mike stole second and Bob Rossi's single to left drove in the final two Loyola runs.

A.U.'s final at-bats gave them their only run as Nemphos scored from third on Rossi's error.

Murray Stars

In the second game, Soph hurler How Murray gave up only four hits and one unearned run for a 9-1 victory. The second inning was explosive as the as the Hounds rolled up 6 hits and 6 runs. Mike Elliott led off with a double, Bob Rossi followed with a single, and Sweeney drove Mike in with a single to left. First baseman Bill Falkenhan doubled to drive in the second run. Blair walked and Murray followed with a single for two RBI's. Campbell walked and Burchell's double drove in two more runs.

Stewart Stickwork Tames Penn Lions

By Stan Hellman

John Stewart, scoring five goals, led Loyola to a 10-6 lacrosse victory over Penn State.

The Hounds quickly jumped on top as Marty Pilachowski scored on a rebound within the first minute. On their first attacking play, however, Penn State tied the score.

Loyola grabbed the lead back before the first quarter was over as Bill Asher hit the mark with two long shots and John Stewart stole the ball from Penn's goalie, coming out of the crease. He then easily flipped the ball past him into the goal. One Lion score made the tally 4-2 at the quarter's end.

One Penn State goal constituted the entire second period scoring. The Penn State defense kept the Green and Grey attack in check while goalie Tony Federico and defenders Tim Martin, Jack Palmer, and Dan Hartman did an equally good job on the Lion attack.

Stewart Ices game

Stewart's four second half markers were instrumental in icing the decision in Loyola's favor. John White spotted John Skoglin unguarded and the latter fired the ball into the nets.

Near the end of the game, Penn State goalie Bill Webster lost the ball to Lou Becker in an attempted clear. With the goal unguarded, Becker easily scored.

A last quarter lead allowed coach Charlie Wenzel to clear the bench, enabling the younger players to gain some valuable game experience.

Tomorrow the Hounds travel to meet the University of Delaware and avenge last year's 10-8 loss.

AU, Towson Fall To Hound Racket

By Bob Malko

Loyola's netmen defeated American University 8-1 and Towson State Teacher's College 5-3 to bring their season total to a perfect 4-0 in the Mason-Dixon Conference.

First man, Russ Tontz, defeated his AU and Towson opponents. Russ has a 5-0 record in single play.

Team-captain Alex Cummings also featured in the two victories and boosted his total to a 4-1 lead.

Senior Lou Albert defeated his AU adversary but lost a close three set match to Towson's Jerry Gibula.

Kelly and Malko

Like Cummings, freshman Tom Kelly has thus far posted a 4-1 ticket in singles play. Sophomore Bob Malko handled his AU opponent but was downed in a three set match against Towson's DeHan.

Bob Kujawa, a newcomer this year, won in both matches and currently posts a 3-2 record.

The team is tentatively scheduled to play the Blue Jays of Johns Hopkins at Evergreen today. Coach Colimore believes that this match is very important to the team's bid for another championship.

Intramurals

Last year's intramural softball champions, the Crusaders, head the list of seventeen teams entered in this year's single elimination tournament.

The Crusaders, led by the strong pitching of Walt Kowalczyk, will be the team to beat. The Moms, a sophomore team which made a good showing last year, should also be regarded as a contender.

In the first two games that were played this spring found the B.C.'s beating the Krauts 7-1, and the Moms over the Nuthins 14-3. Tom Brown led the B.C.'s hitting attack with a home-run and a single which drove in two runs. Mike Mazzie was the winning pitcher and Tom Manning was the loser.

Paul Sneeringer's home run and Dick Oare's three hits paced the Moms to their easy win over the Nuthins. Frank Lowry pitched for the Moms and John Bohnet was the loser for the Nuthins.

Today, intramural football continues as the Animals take on the Far-Tars; the winner will play Hamilton Rec for the championship.

The members of the Block "L" Club last Wednesday elected their officers for next year.

This election is a kind of milestone as far as athletics at Loyola are concerned, since during this year there has been no substantial interest raised by our athletes about this organization which is theoretically the largest on campus and involves more than one hundred and twenty-five people.

If the new officers can take an example from the work that went into the new constitution and keep the movement going, we will have a tightly knit group which has much ahead of it to accomplish, both concerning and apart from athletics.

One activity of the club which we missed this year was the annual dance that was a financial loss last year and prudently discontinued this year. The vacuum is ready to be filled with interest.

To insure the success of this new venture, a requirement has been placed on membership. A nominal fee must be paid by all who wish to gain a place in the athletic picture of Loyola. Other than this fee the only other requirement is the possession of at least a minor letter, either through intercollegiate athletic activity, as a manager, or as a representative of the athletic department in a special capacity.

The work has been planned and organized by the outgoing team captains and is waiting for responsibility to take over.

Catholic U. Sweeps Meet; Loyola Gains Two Firsts

Greyhounds off and running.

The Hound Harriers took one on the chin last Friday as Catholic University ran off with the majority of the laurels and thumped out a 91-45 victory.

Loyola's only first place victories occurred in the field events where Bill Morris jumped 18'7" in the broad jump category. Steve Regester and Jimmy Creamer finished one-two in the discus throw to defeat John Dorazio of Catholic University, who is there on a track scholarship.

The biggest surprise of the day was the setting of four new Loyola track records. Greg O'Hara ran the 440 yard dash in 51.2 seconds, slashing one second from the previous mark.

In the 330 yard hurdle event Ames Stanford bettered by two seconds the time set by Landis of Mt. St. Mary's in 1963.

In the field events, John Dorazio lofted the shot to a distance of 44'3" and topped the old mark set by Lou McGomas in 1953. Hopping, skipping, and jumping 41 1/2" Mike Hogan set the new triple jump record.

Catholic University dominated the meet, but the Hounds scored some important seconds. Pete Rauane scored in the broad jump and again in the triple jump. Tony Virgilio and Sam Amato finished second and third in the 100 yard dash.

Charlie Cherry and Billy Morris took second and third in the high jump, as Charlie Kelly and John Meredith did the same in the shotput. Lew Schaffner picked up two second place finishes in the two hurdle events.

Golfers Outdrive Green Terrors

The Greyhound golfers registered their first win of the year in an 11 1/2 to 6 1/2 victory over Western Maryland at Westminster.

Senior Mike Kenney and freshman Joe Coyle each swept 3-0 matches while Captain Bill Kohlhepp picked up two points with a 37 on the back nine. Junior Mike Ward rallied for a 2 1/2 to 1 1/2 victory in his match. Soph Dick Burt picked up the other point for the Hounds by taking the back nine of his number one match.

In their opening match the Hounds lost to a tough Mt. St. Mary's squad, 7 1/2 to 1 1/2 on a rain soaked course in Hanover, Pennsylvania. Kohlhepp led the scorers with one point while Coyle picked up 1/2 point by halving his match. Dick Crist of the Saint's was medalist with a 74.

The player set-up for the first two matches had Burt and Kohlhepp playing first and second, Coyle and Kenney in the third and fourth spots, with Bob Clark and Ward holding down the fifth and sixth positions. The Hounds travel to Washington for a match with American U. on Monday.

Focus On Sports

This week the camera focuses on John Stewart, captain of the Hound lacrosse team, which now posts a 3-2 record at the halfway mark.

For three years Stewart has been Charlie Wenzel's scoringest player, having amassed a total 61 goals and 32 addits. For these and other reasons, John is an all-American.

In 1962 this senior political science major received a third team berth on the all-American roster, and just last year was elevated to a position on the second team.

What is in store for this season? To date, Stew has hit the net ten times and assisted five times. His outstanding characteristic is an uncanny ability to drive on the ball.

This bull-like ability enables him to come up steadily with the ball in almost every face-off from his center midfield position. Along with offensive deft Stewart uses his stick as a defensive weapon to thwart the foes' attack.
